

The lust called knowledge

Mors Principium Est

[lyrics by Ville Viljanen]The pleasures and the temptations they hold our mind and flesh
"now release me"
the price of lust called sacrifice the silence bow before meIn the sky the angels defeat in the clouds the winds so grey sun has lived a thousand lives he made the winds so paleThe ancient one in the emptiness we call his name awake
"open your eyes" please set us free of this torment where is the knowledge we have to findIn the sky the angels defeat in the clouds the winds so grey
he made the winds so pale see the light the flames of desire and make our heart go vain let us climb the mountains of passion and see the future's way
