

Falling Down

Breaking Point

Dont you lie to me, 'cause Im not blind
I see the lessons that you teach create the hate in me
Im not scared to say that I wont be that way
Were all the same, but theres always a price to payI dont want to be the one to push you down and pull you up again
I dont want to be that way youre falling down, youre falling down againIts when you speak to me cause hates not born, you see
Its pride you scream with bigot eyes too blind to see Your frame of minds outdated narrow opinions faded
Would you like to meet this monster that youve createdI dont want to be the one to push you down and pull you up again
I dont want to be that way youre falling down, youre falling down againDont you lie to me, 'cause Im not blind
I see
The lessons you teach create the hate in me
Im not scared to say that I wont be that way
Were all the same but theres always a price you payI dont want to be the one to push you down and pull you up
again
I dont want to be that way youre falling down, youre falling down againI dont want to be the one to push you down and pull you up again
I dont want to be that way youre falling down, youre falling down again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>