

Slice

moonbuggy

There was a time a long, long time ago
Chevy's and levees played on the radio
No cell phones, just 20 thousand lights

Swaying on a Saturday night, alrightCan you imagine that slice of time?

Rock and roll was young, people stood in line

To hear music that played into their lives

That you could carry 'til the day you dieHey man, sing me a song

When we were everyone

We were more than just a slice

Of American pieHave you read my blog today?

300 million little USA's

Your doorstep is just a click away

We'll get together one of these daysHow can you be as nice as me?

You're not from the same slice as me

Where do we go from here my friend?

Is this the way our story ends?Hey man, sing me a song

When we were everyone

We were more than just a slice

Of American pieI can't stop singing along

Can you join in, come on?

Are we more than just a slice

Of American Pie?We're top down lovers, it's Saturday night

The band's running and it feels so right

The moon's dancing and the stars are free

I caught your heart on a summer breezeWhatever was or what's meant to be

Our melodies are memoriesThere was a time a long, long time ago

Chevy's and levees played on the radio

No cell phones, just 20 thousand lights

Swaying on a Saturday night alrightHey man, sing me a song

When we were everyone

We were more than just a slice

Of American pieI can't stop singing along

Can you join in, come on?

Are we more than just a slice

Of American pie?We're more than a slice

We're more than a slice

We're more than just a slice

Of American pie
