

Grace Is a Song

Smalltown Poets

You broke the ground, buried your seed,
Full in the earth to start a new breed
You were the one, heralded king,
Pulled from Your glory to settle this deed
Something growing, Forever knowing Up to the sun tender and green,
Rooted in Jesse blooming in season
Promises kept had to be made,
Yours are for the nations Grace is a song (Loud and long enough for everyone)
Grace is a song (All your justice, all your promises won)
Grace is a song (Father calling for His daughters and sons, sing on)
Grace is a song singing over and over You were the One spoken in light
There is no wrong that You won't make right
Life out of time clouded by night,
A kingdom at hand, seldom in sight
Hear it coming Grace is a song (Loud and long enough for everyone)
Grace is a song (All your justice, all your promises won)
Grace is a song (Father calling for His daughters and sons, sing on)
Grace is a song singing over and over A melody rolling free
An enemy rocked by the words
Your jubilee, humanity is changed now
By what our hearts overheard
Our hearts overheard Grace is a song (Loud and long enough for everyone)
Grace is a song (All your justice, all your promises won)
Grace is a song (Father calling for His daughters and sons, sing on)
Grace is a song singing over and over Grace is a song
Grace is a song
Grace is a song
Grace is a song singing over and over
