

Drifting

Sever Your Ties

How can I keep from straying
Its an easy one, its a simple thing Nothing can keep me from dragging my feet
Its a choice I was given, choice I received
When we finally stop dragging our feet
Its a choice we surrender to gain everything When I walk into a room full of fire
Naturally I want to burn such a human desire
I know you well, as well as you know me
Its still an easy one, its still a simple thing I know it's skin and bones
But I want more for my body
I want more, I want more Nothing can keep me from dragging my feet
Its a choice I was given, choice I received
When we finally stop dragging our feet
Its a choice we surrender to gain everything When I walk into a room full of fire
Naturally I want to burn such a human desire I know it's skin and bones
But I want more for my body
I want more, I want more
I want more for my body
I want more I know you well, as well as you know me Nothing can keep me from dragging my feet
Its a choice I was given, choice I received
When we finally stop dragging our feet
Its a choice we surrender to gain everything When I walk into a room full of fire
Naturally I want to burn such a human desire
