Die for Your Love

AJ Smith

I heard you left your love back home to brave this New York wild on your own and when i found you at that whisky bar I should've knew you were a angle sent down to wreck my heart when you told me please don't fall as you held me by the hand and kissed me by the water i knew i didn't stand a chance cause know i die i would die for your love
so let me try to show that i'm good enough to fight for your love and please don't make me die for your love
Die for your love
We spent our weekend with our secrets trapped inside Getting so tangled in my bed in my head that i'd forgotten all your lies when you ask me have a fallen as i held you in my arms i tried to lie with my mind but my heart had gone to war cause now i die i would die for your love
die for your love
so let me try to show that i'm good enough to fight for your love
and please don't make me die for your love and if you could ever love me please just let me know if you want me tell me now i'm on fire it's burning up my pride i'm so scared and i'm a afraid i can't bare to let you go so if you could ever love me please just let me know cause know i die i would die for your love
so let me try to show that i'm good enough to fight for your love
and please don't make me die for your love i'd die for your love
die for your love
