

Satellites

For Selena And Sin

these times, don't have a meaning when all frail promises grows strong with insecurity we'll drift incomplete and lost without an aim like floating satellites in our invincibility so i have ask now 'cause it's faceless in my thought is this my given number, will death last forever?CHORUS:

i've seen the light, but they don't shine i've seen the angels and demons eye to eye i've waited all these years and what for? i've shed all these tears, i don't know anymore these days fade like sunset to the west but i can't blame you for never hearing my voice it leaves nothing more to say so ignore me like i ignore my life my life without any choices so i have to ask now 'cause it's faceless in my thoughts is this my given number, will death last forever? when the first snow falls and this winter of heart turns into distrust and let us slip away wondering how will i go through this pain and sorrow of watching you die everyday Lyrics provided by <https://damnlrics.com/>