

From You

Jonathan Clark

Standin'™ on the outside lookin' way beyond the inside
You don't™ know where it went wrong but it went wrong
You try to understand there's™ got to be a bigger plan
But you can't™ seem to find your way to see it through

You've™ been climbin'™ over mountains just to see the other side
Cause the valley down below has caught your eye
Now you're™ stuck in the terrain
You've™ even given up your name
And you want to get it back before you die

You can chase it down forever and the truth might be a sin
Cause even when you find it Lord it doesn't™ mean you win
The grass is always greener when you're™ on the other side
But in the end you never get to hide
From you

You try to justify the way you run away and hide
You must love the way the past has set you free
You don't™ have to understand
It's™ just the way your life was planned
And you're™ off the hook of everything you need

It's™ a bitter composition you don't™ see the imposition
And the way it changes everything you see

Is there anything to fight for
That you haven't™ tried to own before
There's™ got to be a better way to be

You can chase it down forever and the truth might be a sin
But even when you find it Lord it doesn't™ mean you win
The grass is always greener when you're™ on the other side
But in the end you never get to hide
From you, from you, oh you... from you

Look away, don't™ turn back
If you don't™ see, there'll™ be no one left to blame...
But you, only you

Donâ€™t run away, canâ€™t hide away

You can chase it down forever and the truth might be a sin
Cause even when you find it Lord it doesnâ€™t mean you win
The grass is always greener when youâ€™re on the other side
But in the end you never get to hide
From you, from you, from you, oh from you

You canâ€™t run away, you canâ€™t hide away
You canâ€™t run away, you canâ€™t hide away
From you
