Don't Need You

Outbreak

I don't give a fuck if I'm accepted or not all your followers should be shot. Nothing matters to you but fitting in, thinking for yourself is a battle you'll never win. You've got nothing to say but your mouth's still moving, you've got no point to be fucking proving. It's all a lie and we can see right through and when the trend fades, so will you. No fucking heart and you have no pride, you can't fool me 'cause you're hollow inside. Follow the path of all your friends, too blind to see it's just a dead end. No matter what's done you'll never see, that fuckheads like you aren't better than me, because being another clone is your idea of fun and if it was up to me, you'd all be hung. Point your finger and fucking laugh, when the joke's on you, you piece of trash. Keep talking shit, no one's listening, your pedestal's crashing, your ego's bu