You're shining right in front of me now.
You can't tell what I am becoming.
Twisted in memories of a world that would last forever.
But it's not ever the same and the days seem so much colder.
Now I don't feel anything else.
But you do seem perfect here tonight.
You make me see this place so different.
I do things now I know I shouldn't.
There was a time that we cared and we're looking at the peices.
Because it's never enough and I'm leaving all their troubles.
Now I don't feel anything else,
But you do seem perfect here tonight.
Now I don't feel anything else,
But you do seem perfect here tonight,
And now I won't ever stand still.
Any thought of you and I'm spinning.
Now it seems that everything has changed,
And it will not ever be the same.
Every dream I've ever had is clear and it seems so perfect here tonight.
