Better Before You Were Big Time

TRK

You were better before you were big time.
You were real before you were prime time.
Now you're tight rope walking on a fine line.
You were better before you were big time.

You say your limousine don't change a thing.
It seems to me that they do.
You used to laugh about the red carpet on T.V.
Now that red carpet is walking you.

You were better before you were big time.
You were real before you were prime time.
Now you're tight rope walking on a fine line.
You were better before you were big time.

Your song on T.V. and the radio might get you on the talk shows and the Rolling Stone, another all night party with a blonde or two.
But I heard your brand new record, just don't read that review.

Less time with music and your family.
All that time with a mirror and you still can't see.

You were better before you were big time.
You were real before you were prime time.
Now you're tight rope walking on a fine line.
You were better before you were big time.

solo

You were better before you were big time.
You were real before you were prime time.
Now you're tight rope walking on a fine line.
You were better before you were big time.

extra lines:

You're a parody now I guess you don't mind.
