Flock of Dimes

Twenty five the season dark Three sheets to the wind like a close line rope He's a spider on the web She was a tiny woman , he could sense Her developing body was just the beginning She said, "Is anybody out there?" She was bruised like a cherry Ripe as a peach How could he have known that she was only 15 And she came to him like a tick on the noose Little blue eyed soul for his black and blues (???) for the likes of me Our skin is like grass let's smoke it real fast

Is anybody out there? He was deep like a graveyard Wired like TV And how could he have known that she'd be down for almost anything But she was only only only 15 My oh my you pretty thing It's about that time for us to meet Does your Daddy have a shotgun? He was deep like a graveyard She was ripe as a peach And how could he have known she was only 15 She was only only only 15 She was only only only 15
