

So Can I

Audio Adrenaline

Today, I read your story
Saw the scars that you still carry
You were just a little girl
Nine years into this world
You were running for a shelter
Wondering what's all this fighting for
All the pictures that show
The fire got too close Oh, they said that you would die
But look at you, you're so alive So I'll tear my fences down
And build my bridges up
Because of you I've found
That grace is enough
I'm learning how to live
By laying down my pride
'Cause if you can love
Then so can I
Then so can I Son of God, one and only
You left Heaven's glory
To be abandoned by Your friends
In the hour You needed them
They watched while You were hurting
On a cross so undeserving
Oh, You sacrificed it all
For the world You took the fall Oh, they said that You had died
But look at You, You're so alive So I'll tear my fences down
And build my bridges up
Because of You I've found
That grace is enough
I'm learning how to live
By laying down my pride
'Cause if You can love
Then so can I I haven't felt Your pain
Now I know I can't stay the same
So if You can love Then I'll tear my fences down
And build my bridges up
Because of You I've found
That grace is enough
I'm learning how to live
By laying down my pride

'Cause if You can love

Then so can I

Then so can I

Then so can I

Then so can I

Then so can I

Songwriters

DAN BREMNES, ERIC ARJES, JUAN OTERO Published by

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>