Breaking

Tadpoles

Do you memorize theatrical lines
That seem to lead them in Play the role with a good girl heart
Hide the tangled webs withinWho was it that lead you on
That makes you want to hurt me so?
Who do you want to forget?
Who forgot you long ago?Do you still feel him
Calling in the air tonight?
Do you still feel it?
Seems like you've done this beforeYou make breaking hearts look so easy
Seems like you've done this before
You've got breaking hearts all but down
And you've done this, you've done this beforeYou make stealing hearts look so easy
Where is the girl I adore?
You've got breaking up all but down
And I can't love a thief anymoreDo you collect the souls you've lost
In the top of your dresser drawer?
Count the number of tears displaced
On lonely bedroom floorsA machine where your heart once was Slowly takes the place of you
Only hold the memories now
Of a love I thought I knewDo you still feel him
Calling in the air tonight?
Do you still feel it?
Seems like you've done this beforeYou make breaking hearts look so easy
Seems like you've done this before
You've got breaking hearts all but down
And you've done this, you've done this beforeYou make stealing hearts look so easy
Where is the girl I adore?
You've got breaking up all but down
And I can't love a thief anymoreYou make breaking hearts look so easy
You've got breaking hearts all but downYou make breaking hearts look so easy
Seems like you've done this before
You've got breaking hearts all but down
And you've done this, you've done this beforeThe best you could hope to be
Is now just a bittersweet memory
And you make breaking hearts look so easy

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/