Blackstairs

Clannad

Cold, blue eyes, they look through me
Stare those eyes at meYou must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairs
Yes, you must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairsThere's no disguise upon your face
You're not like anyone I know
They give so freely and they come when I come out
But you're the one, the one I want to understandYou must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairs
Yes, you must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairsYou're not scared, no, you don't answer
You just stand there, face the stairs going home
If I could choose my own way down
I'd take the road to the blackstairsYou must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairsSadness raging in the broken man
Stays until the day ends
When he is free to think of better days again
Looks like the scales of love and time are all the sameYou must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairs
And I long to go up there
And live on the blackstairs
Yes, you must be one of those girls
Who live on the blackstairs

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/