Hammering Out the Details

Ten Foot Pole

I find myself entrenched again In things that just don't matter So I throw it aside

'Cuz I'm not gonna waste my timeI've spent most of my life punching the clock

Hammering out the details

I want to get up off this ride

Once again I ask myselfWho am I?

What have I done that I am proud of?It's time to wake myself up

Everyday another crises I work

To avoid disaster, new deadlines

And the urgent phone callsIn the end what is it worth?

Well, I'm not satisfied just hammering out the details

I want to get up off this ride

It's time to claim my lifeWho am I?

What have I done that I am proud of?

Who am I?

What have I done?I'll be gone before you know
I want to make a mark before
I go, it's up to me to take control
