Something's Telling Me

BoDeans

Something's telling me that we're not in love anymore
The way that you're kissing me is not quite the way that you kissed me before
Now you keep on telling me it's my imagination
But I think your heart's been taking a vacation
Something's telling me, Something's telling me
Something's telling me that you'll soon be walking out that door
You'll probably say something stupid like
"I gotta go down to the store and buy myself some cigarettes
Do you want a pack?"
And I wont see you anymore
And that, my friend, is that
Something's telling me, Something's telling's me
Something's coming on to me
Something's telling me all about it
Now you don't really want me
Something's telling me
Something's telling me that there's gotta be more that this
There's gotta be more to the whole damn thing than just a hug and a kiss
Someday I'm going to find it, then I'll really know
But if you're gonna leave, then I think you'd better go
Something's telling me, Something's telling me
Something's telling me, Something's telling me
Something's telling me that we're not in love anymore
Something's telling me that we're not in love anymore
