

Too Much

Sufjan Stevens

If I was a different man
If I had the blood in my e-e-eyes
I could have read of your heart
I could have read of your h-h-heart
Now I'm lonely instead, I pick up a fight
So pick up your battle and with love
I want to see it
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that anyway, ey, yeah
And maybe I'm talking too fast

And maybe I'm talking too much
Give me the sensitive laugh
Don't give me the sensitive touch
Even if I could have kissed
And even if I could be the blood
I'm so sorry, I'll try love
I want to see it
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that
There's too much, too much, too much love
There's too much riding on that anyway, ey, yeah

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>