Simple Minds, Simple Lives

Spitalfield

The marketing kings are at it again
Theyre selling you lies, becoming your friends
Until the endIrresistible charm, a well playing game
The target is you and theyre taking aim
So step outsideWe are simple minds, we live simple lives
And were doing what we love
Not trying to just appeal to you
Its when the push becomes the shoveAnd when you peel it all the away
Is it really true just what they say?
Is it really true just what they say?
Is it really true just what they say?Corporal contenders with imperial goals
Their hidden agendas arent always exposed
So write this downBuy into their bullshit, their copycat trends
Youll become a part for the message they send
Jot it downWe are simple minds, we live simple lives
And were doing what we love
Not trying to just appeal to you
Its when the push becomes the shoveAnd when you peel it all the away
Is it really true just what they say?
Is it really true just what they say?
Is it really true just what they say?(Just fall apart, just fall apart)
Is it really true just what they say?
(Just fall apart, just fall apart)
(Just fall apart, just fall apart)
Is it really true just what they say?
(Just fall apart, just fall apart)

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/