Goodbye

Debbie Gibson

Darlin', I was hoping that we could pretend
And make believe that we could still live happily and start again
Seems like you and I, we've caught up in your world of lies
I kept believing you could start anew and be a friendWell, I've got something I wanted to tell you
And it's the last thing I wanted to say
But I think I must go there anywayGoodbye, how do you say goodbye?
Do I just look you in the eye
Shake your hand, wish you well
After all this time
I never wanted for goodbyeDon't let go, I was devoted to your heart and soul
And then we took a turn
And I had to learn
What I tried not to knowSeems like yesterday
I'd give the world just to hear you say
A simple whisper of a word or two
Like "I love you"
Breaks my heart to see it end this wayGoodbye, how do you say goodbye?
Do I just look you in the eye
Shake your hand, wish you well
After all this time
I never wanted for goodbyeGoodbye, can it ever be the same?
Goodbye, did we lose more than we gained?
There's nowhere to hide, baby, I feel it inside
As my heart cries out your name
Goodbye
