

Heaven

Freakwater

Heaven is for the weak at heart
And those who never were as smart as me
But I would trade all that I believe
And keep no trick card up my sleeve
Just to know the angels hold you in their arms tonight I was a good baby, I slept all through night
My mother remembers my eyes were like hers
When noone remembers do the dying embers
Say goodnight? Say goodnight A screen door bangin' in the wind
Through the quiet night you come crashin' again
Just like new it's never faded
It's a game we play my jaded little brain and I In a dream well a light could fire
I look down on you fall down? outside
My hearts desire could not be sated
To your own child you have traded
An eye for an eye

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>