

Wrong Again

All

So much dirt has been thrown I thought it was buried I thought it was over So much time has passed So many slurs have been made I thought once again I could trust you I thought it couldn't be made worse Wrong again
Now I know we can't be friends again Now I know you'll never let go You pray for my damnation I pray I'll never be like you But I won't offer you my absolution Did you really expect me too? This is my way of walking away Now I know your words disguise Now I close my ears to your lies Any faith I had in you is gone Enjoy your hate; I'll regret my pity for you Wrong again Too bad you turned out wrong again
