

Love Again

Baxter

I heard a rumor from a friend and another one that said
It was impossible to push your feelings away
I heard it took a lifetime for someone to forget a love
But she did, yes, she did forget it at last I need a friend
I need you
I need a friend
I need you I need a friend to take me home again
I need you to make it true They said it could be better if I let my love be a part of me
To let in, to be brave without games or lies
But what if everything that I give to you
Make you scared, make you leave, will I ever dare to love again I need a friend
I need you
I need a friend
I need you I need a friend to take me home again
I need you to make it true I need a friend
I need you
I need a friend
I need you I need a friend
I need you
