

Seed

Korn

Every day it gets a little harder, can't seem to get away
I remember there's a certain place, a place I wish I'd stay
I feel so lost within pressured, I'm headed for that day Just one thought in my head, really do I need this fame? Every time, goddamn, I look at my seed, I see something I can't be
Beautiful and carefree, that's how I used to be
Like some goddamn fucking freak, I'm so pressured, I'm so weak Something takes a hold of me, something I can't believe I lay in bed at night and wonder, should I go on this way?
It's the only thing I really got for now, and it's called fame Every time, goddamn, I look at my seed, I see
something I can't be
Beautiful and carefree, that's how I used to be
Like some goddamn fucking freak, I'm so pressured, I'm so weak
Something takes a hold of me, something I can't believe So I see this face so innocent and fine and so fine
So I see this face and I realize it's mine
I feel the rattle, I feel the rattle So I see this face so innocent and fine and so fine
So I see this face and I realize it's mine
I feel the rattle Every time, goddamn, I look at my seed, I see something I can't be Beautiful and carefree, that's how I used to be
Like some goddamn fucking freak, I'm so pressured, I'm so weak
Something takes a hold of me, something I can't believe Like some goddamn fucking freak
Like some goddamn fucking freak
Like some goddamn fucking freak
Like some goddamn fucking freak
