

I Hope Your Heart Runs Empty (ft. Scott Anderson)

Neverending White Lights

If all the luck in this life has all run
If all my faith is undone, I had none
To track them down
And take them back where they belong Could that explain why I'm here
Is that the reason why I came?
And why I feel this way
I feel, I feel, I feel I came apart here Stole a look away from you eyes
Stole a look and finally paid your price
Tethered fresh, trampled thoughts, look for me
Look at this face, everywhere there's new mistakes
And underneath it all, takes its toll, grudgingly
But with you in here, everything seems okay If every moment could have you in it
I know where all my faith had gone
If any moment should take you away
I know I'll always have this one If every moment could have you in it
I know where all my faith had gone
If any moment should take you away
I know I'll always have this one
This one, this one, this one Of any moment, ever stolen, don't take this one
As my heart runs empty now I realize
What I want would never surface otherwise
I hope your heart runs empty and you realize
Hold on to this hope, hold on to this hope Hold on to all my hope and my faith
Cause I don't wanna leave
I don't leave from your life Because I wanna see, that nothing is faded
That nothing could change it
That nothing is faded
That nothing could change it of any moment

Songwriters

Daniel Victor Spadafora; Scott Anderson Published by

FINGER ELEVEN PUBLISHING; RENFIELD MUSIC (SEE NOTES) Song Discussions is protected by U.S.
Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>