

My Baby

Joshua Radin

(as recorded, my take) When you came to me, crying from a dream

Feeling so small, my baby

I held you in my arms, kissed away the harm

From your last fall, my baby

Suddenly you see how it's meant to be

When you stand tall, my baby

You and I know flowers only grow

When the rain falls, my baby Like a runaway train

Like your face in the rain

Like a star so far away

You can't know from where it came

Like the winter snow

Like the way you know

By the way we said goodbye on the day

Of our first hello, I will

Love you Sleep beneath moon, watching it consume

A new day, my baby

Though your eyes are tired from wanting with desire

In a new way, my baby

Lying with you seems like waking from a dream

When you say, "my baby"

Everything before left me wanting more

So I'll stay your baby Like a runaway train

Like your face in the rain

Like a star so far away

You can't know from where it came

Like the winter song

Like the way you know

By the way we said goodbye on the day

Of our first hello, I will

Love you Still you're holding on to memories that are gone

While I kneel, my baby

And I can try to make you give me what you take

But I don't steal, my baby

So if you want to show how you really know

What I feel, my baby

Then let me start a new memory with you

And let us heal, my baby Like a runaway train

Like your face in the rain

Like a star so far away
You can't know from where it came
Like the winter snow
Like the way you know
By the way we said goodbye on the day
Of our first hello, I will
Love you
