

War In the Streets

Les Big Byrd

The midnight sun is setting on the TV screen.
And the satellites keep sending out their silent beams. And there's a war raging in the streets.
Yeah there's a war raging in the streets. The summer clouds are reflecting in the wet concrete
And the mission bells keep ringing from inside your dream. And there's a war raging in the streets.
Yeah there's a war raging in the streets. The radio keeps pouring out an endless stream.
And the summer rain is washing off your dirty feet. And there's a war raging in the streets.
Yeah there's a war raging in the streets.
And there's a war raging in the streets.
Yeah there's a war raging in the streets.
