Line in the Sand

Bleeding Through

The line is being drawn through my heart
And we're conceiving fires through our thoughtsAnd you're just like me
And you're just like meThis is everything I wanted to tell you
And I'm still in love with everything about you
And I feel the wreckage from everything you do
And I'm tired of still waiting, whoaIf I told you the truth now
Would you still leave and take my heart?
And I still feel ugly, but you're ugly just like me
When I show you the truth now
Would you still leave? Will you ever change?
But I still feel empty, will I always lose this game?This is everything, I've wanted to show you
I'm no longer scared of anything about you
I lived through the damage of the heart you took from me
And I'm tired of still wanting, whoaIf I told you the truth now
Would you still leave and take my heart?
And I still feel ugly, but you're ugly just like me
When I show you the truth now
Would you still leave? Will you ever change?
But I still feel empty, will I always lose this game?If I told you the truth now
Would you still leave and take my heart?
And I still feel ugly, but you're ugly just like me
When I show you the truth now
Would you still leave? Will you ever change?
But I still feel empty, will I always lose this game?

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/