

Lost My Way

Finger Eleven

I'm bound to wander where all of you glitters going I'm so far from knowing and non of my instincts showing kicking kicking out see me from out side and tell me where i've been there's no way to return to out there i think i've lost my way that's just not news today the stories of black and white have gone to gray the stories of black and white have gone to gray the stories of black and white have gone to gray and you were right cause i've finally lost my way I'm bound to wander where all of you glitters going I'm so far from knowing and non of my instincts are showing kicking kicking out screaming to the outside tell me where i've been there's no way to return to out there i think i've lost my way that's just not news today the stories of black and white have gone to gray the stories of black and white have gone to gray the stories of black and white have gone to gray and you were right cause i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way the stories of black and white have gone to gray and you were right i've finally lost my way the stories of black and white have gone to gray the stories of black and white have gone to gray the stories of black and white have gone to gray and you were right i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way i've finally lost my way

---

Lyrics submitted by Aaron.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>