Starting Over Again

Sheryn Regis

And when I hold you in my arms I promise you You're gonna feel a love that's beautiful and new

This time I'll love you even better

Than I ever did before

And you'll be in my heart forevermoreWe were just too young to know

We fell in love and let it go

So easy to say the words goodbye

So hard to let the feelings die

I know how much I need you now

The time is turning back somehow

As soon as our hearts and souls unite

I know for sure we'll get the feeling rightCHORUS

And now we're starting over again

It's not the easiest thing to do

I'm feeling inside again

'Cause everytime I look at you

I know we're starting over again

This time we'll love all the pain away

Welcome home my lover and friend

We are starting over, over againIf we never lived alone

Then we might have never known

All the time we spent apart

All we did was break each other's hearts (Instrumental)And when I hold you in my arms I promise you You're gonna feel a love that's beautiful and new

This time I'll love you even better

Than I ever did before

And you'll be in my heart forevermoreCHORUS

END-CHORUS

And now we're starting over again

This time we'll chase all the rain away

Welcome home my lover and friend

We are starting over, over again

We are starting over, over again
