Quality Television

The Flatliners

today we're in a state of blasting bullshit through the air waves wasting money, precious time is lost over the network race i can't turn on my TV without seeing someone who looks like me "it's a look into their world" they say, i don't give a shit anyway everyday life televised everyday for people to see.....how someone who signed up for their life on TV is living now i hate the sound of "reality TV" it doesn't make much sense to me it's gonna be it or it's gonna be me quality television, the ringing in my head zombified by the networks lies and their editing quality television, the static gets to me quality television .. stay away from mebide the time before this time bomb blows up in everybody's face the human race just can't agree on what is and isn't a disgrace it's to the point where every minute that i sit there wondering whats out there.. i just remember: nothing importantit's just a bunch of filler and I've had it up and over lets hope soon enough that it'll be done and over dreading moments caught on camera, bullshit TV, propaganda everything thats good and bad you be the judge of what you have
