New Mistake

Jellyfish

Curtain opens, spot lights the gentleman
Signing his love letter best wishes Simpleton
Dialog swam from his pen like polliwogs
He knew better that perfume was gravity
Pulling him closer to what could be tragedy
Love is blind, deaf and dumb, but never mindYou better catch me when I fall
I'm on my roller skates
'Cause any ol' way that I fall
I land in your arms even though it's wrong
'Cause I love my new mistakeIntermission gave way to a miracle
The birth of an accident grew to a spectacle
That couldn't wait, the mother was three weeks late
So Father Mason, clutching his crucifix
Baptized the baby in whiskey and licorice
What a lovely way, drowning sins in tooth decayLooks like our hero's gonna fall
The bow's about to break
'Cause any ol' way that I fall
I'll be in your arms as we lie awake
With our lovely new mistakeYou better catch me when I fall
My sugar trampoline
'Cause any ol' way that I fall
I land in your arms even though it's wrong
'Cause I love my new mistakeThe ending turned tragic when many years later
The baby had grown up and married a pop singer
I think it was her turn to make her first mistakeAny ol' time at fall, any ol' way that I fall
Any ol' time at fall, any ol' way that I fall
Any ol' time at fall, any ol' way that I fall
Any ol' time at fall, any ol' way that I fall
Any ol' time at fall, any ol' way that I fall
Any ol' time at fall
