

Limerence

Lust for Youth

she walks here on sundays so close yet so far away she moves like a sunset all eyes on her and she's entitled to and she's entitled to let me see her I hang around the bus stop all the trees bow down she's not in a hurry smiles back for the fun of it she points at the skyline like it's hers to take and she's entitled to and she's entitled to let me see her
all the trees low down let me see her
all the trees low down
