

Restless Soul

Hammerfall

The morning breaks, as a new day begins
And I'm still on the road to nowhere
No sign of life in his eyes, no emotion shown at all
Just like water through my hands In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul must die In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul must die A glorious ride, to become immortalized
As you sought your inner dreams and visions
Your final words caught by the wind, never to be heard again
Your last will to be forever free In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul must die In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul must die In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul In his heart, in his eyes
In his soul there's no sign of thunder
Screams, can you hear the screaming
When another restless soul must die

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>