

The Kiss Of Babylon (The Sins)

Orphaned Land

The Kiss Of Babylon (The Sins) Twisted ways blackened nights
Sin upon Sin, gone is the light
Doom shall befall them all
A downward spiral they shall fall
The Three, all this they see
As they try to pass God's decree
Worshiping the gods that demand lives and sacrifice
None but the blood of infants will suffice
Fallen sparrows fall as one into a grave
They are the souls of living men that could not be saved
Walking the land we see
The sins of flesh and spirit flow
Bodies entwined a serpent's
Lethal kiss of venom is bestowed
Our lord watches them fall -
He stands above you all
Son slaying father
A Cain's mark upon us all
Babylon's rising, cast from heaven
We see the angels fall
When will the heavens be alight
The seasons will re-unite
Translation:
My heart is bound with love to the Holy Land,
But my feet are sinking in the depth of exile
When will he give me leave to go up and make my home
Within the extolled gates of Jerusalem?
