

Static On Channel 4

Elefant

Moon and stars above us shine everybody knows you're mine

Static on the Channel 4

Television radio, hold me close when you are cold

Now I've got to get us home, everybody knows you're stoned When you hear me calling you will turn around

And see me standing there waving my old colors

Lifting up my arms and you will understand

You will understand you will understand Kiss me on the lips again

Millions are just tuning in

Satellites begin to spin

Listen close and let me in When you hear me calling you will turn around

And see me standing there waving my old colors

Lifting up my arms and you will understand

You will understand you will understand You will understand you will understand

You will understand you will understand

You will understand you will understand
