

Feel Alive

Katie Herzig

I feel your heartbeat
I feel the weight of all you leave behind
When all you loved has come undone I know that words are fleeting
I know that you are grieving in your own divide
Holding out with the best of us But I know that you're getting stronger
And I know that it's worth the time
You better believe that it will get better
That you'll wake up and feel alive I know that it feels like it'll hurt forever
But we'll make it to the other side
And when you wake up you will remember
What it is to feel alive
To feel
I know that you are healing
I know that you are feeling every fear
Inside, without a place to run and hide If I could show you one thing
It'd be the light that's on the other side
Holding out for the best of us Because I know that you're getting stronger
And I know that it's worth the time
You better believe that it will get better
That you'll wake up and feel alive I know that it feels like it'll hurt forever
But we'll make it to the other side
And when you wake up you will remember
What it is to feel alive
To feel
Because I know that you're getting stronger
And I know that it's worth the time
You better believe that it will get better
That you'll wake up and feel alive I know that it feels like it'll hurt forever
But we'll make it to the other side
And when you wake up you will remember
What it is to feel alive To feel
To feel
To feel

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>