

Every Door Is Open

RTZ

As I look outside my window I see rain
When I look into your eyes I feel pain I know there's something you're trying to conceal
But tell me what you feel Lately when we talk, you look away
There's a certain look of sadness in your face
Well you must be blind if you don't think that I can't see I know there's something you're trying to conceal
But tell me what you feel
Every door is open to my heart for you
Every word that's spoken comes from my heart
To you If it hurts too much, just let it go
If you need someone to lean on, let me know
But if you don't ask then there's nothing I can do We all need somebody to help us when we're falling
Can't you hear me calling Every door is open to my heart for you
Every word that's spoken comes from my heart
Every door is open to my heart for you
Every word that's spoken comes from my heart
To you We all need somebody to help us when we're falling
Can't you hear me calling
Every door is open to my heart for you
Every word that's spoken comes from my heart
Every door is open to my heart for you
Every word that's spoken comes from my heart
To you
