

Everything Is Shattering

Maps

you disappear and throw your mind your rules for nothing most the time a fitting tribute no one hears so let them have it lose your fears

People will say its the careless way out people don't know what this was ever about they treat you right on ocraphy Cause everything is shattering and there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering from another on weather it may be right or wrong
weather your is never enough you may only fall for the one you lost all for nothing two a miss

And nothings worth its wasted wish of emptiness on which you cried your rules are useless most the time
So one last thing its all it takes to only brake that routine Years are going, crying scene and everything is shattering And there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering from another one
weather it may be right or wrong
weather your is never enough
you may only fall for the one you lost You know I never blamed you For all the things weve been through But life just aint the same As failure comes again
Everything is shattering (x4)
Everything is shattering
(there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering form and everyone)
Everything is shattering
(there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering form and everyone)
Everything is shattering
(there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering form and everyone)
Everything is shattering
(there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering form and)
Everything is shattering
(there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering form and everyone)
Everything is shattering
(there is someone for everyone but without love theres beating and harm, shattering form and)
Everything is shattering
