

The Golden Road

Mighty Oaks

Oh I heard them talk,
that the way to god is a golden road
and it's been said,
that you lose your way you jump in the devil's bed.
And all you told me,
that I was just a boy at the tender age of thirteen.
That I will lose my way and I will die an early death and need to share a low-grade. What I see in all these righteous times, is that they don't know:
the path to the promised land is long
and it differs for every man in every country in every land and now one speaks to me?(???)
how have you forsaken me time after time.
I know you took her life you killed her off and showed me you could draw a line. (?) What I see in all these righteous times
is that they don't know:
the path to the promised land is long
and it differs for every man in every country in every land and now one speaks to me?

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>