

Time Stands Still

Anna F.

All I want is for my time with you to slow down

Don't really make it in town like I used to

So for now

All I want is for my time with you to slow down

Don't really make it in town like I used to

So for now

I appreciate your patience

What am I doin' without you?

Never hear no bad shit out here

In the streets about you

Love just must have made you smart

Jealousy is the counterpart

Life has made us stripped apart

No more willing to embark

But we remained friends throughout

All those years from then to now

Both those feelings trust and doubt

Argue until you storm out

Other dude gave you a kid

He didn't have you like I did

I pieced you out and then y'all broke up

And you called me again

Drunk and crying on the phone

Next flight out you gon' be home

Flight delayed, I still wait

Call me when you reach the gate

Pick you up at baggage claim

Tunnel vision just begun

'Cause you and your son

Look like you and my son

All I want is for my time with you to slow down

Don't really make it in town like I used to

So for now

All I want is for my time with you to slow down

Don't really make it in town like I used to

So for now

All I need is more time

Is having you right beside me, you're mine

And only for a couple minutes more, slow down

Somebody say five and time a pillow
Know that if I could then I would pay full time
On some major shit, slow down
Dodgin' every minute like a bullet
Somebody say five and time a pillow
Let me get your bags out of the truck
Get the keys and go upstairs
Cover tattoos on your arm
That's just memories, souvenirs
We got plans tonight
We goin' to the cheese cake factory
And drink a little and reminisce about
How you used to laugh at me
You didn't think I would go too far
I mean being from Compton and all
But still I grabbed some corks, some yarn
And rubber and made myself a ball
I know your momma proud of me
'Cause she looked down on me
She knew I had it
She said that I would make it if I just stayed at it
Now how's your niece
The one who used to stay with you
When you lived on over by the street
The one who like my nephew Kiana
She used to do her hair like Rihanna
You remember my
Why you kiss me when I'm talking?
Just had to bring back all them old memories
So you ready to go?
You sure you don't wanna another drink?
Okay, let me get the check
All I need is more time
Is having you right beside me, you're mine
And only for a couple minutes more, slow down
Somebody say five and time a pillow
Know that if I could then I would pay full time
On some major shit, slow down
Dodgin' every minute like a bullet
Somebody say five and time a pillow, a pillow, a pillow
All I want is for my time with you to slow down
Don't really make it in town like I used to
So for now
All I want is for my time with you to slow down
Don't really make it in town like I used to

So for now
