The Quotidian Beasts

Phosphorescent

Well you woke me up early now and you drew me up bad
And you should be coming home this year, got me real glad
Well I start to discover oceans, started to last
And the beast came upon me, I guess it wasnt so badI said as you took in claws, youve slipped up under my skin
This part, it all adds upon me, Im gonna put em back in Weve been playing like children,
Hiding out, were playing like them
This part, it all adds upon me, Im gonna put em back inShe took the peak of a latent heart, she laid it out just for show
She sprung around the table, unclear, I thought you should know
I saw the streets were enlightened and out the window to the road
And the beast came upon me, honey I thought you should knowAncient eyes were upon me, Ill be working out here and planned
She laid her claws all upon me and she found me a glass
I know Ill be up early, I mean you drew me up bad
And the beast came upon me, I guess it wasnt so bad
