

Candy

William Fitzsimmons

She faces me with consternation in her eyes
Though she's facing some direction I can't find
In this darkness, with no colour, black and white
Suns as dark as, moon light shadow, in her mind
I can walk on this road out a guide
But I can't walk into your gates without her side Incubation meant to save your fragile life
Oxygen that keeps my breathing took your side
And I can walk on this road without a guide
But I can't walk into your gates without your side
And I can walk on this road without a guide
But I can't walk into your gates without your side
ah ah ah ah ah
ah ah ah ah ah
