What Price

Oleta Adams

What price
What price for a broken life
What price for the pain inside
What price for wrong or right
Once more to chills
What price for a shattered dream
What price for a guilty stream
What price for all it seems you've gained
To lose
Round and round in love we try
And never do you once ask why
Cause the one who loves us most stands by
With he's arm's wide open
But still we run a round and round
Often with ours heads hung down
Because the love we've lost not found is gone
What price for another chance
What price for a true romance
What price for one last glance
Before god-bye
What price only Heaven knows
What price for a seed not sown
What price for a child once grown
To leave your side
It's more than you or I could pay
It's more than words we could say
It's more than seconds in one day
Or in a million years
Round and round
When will it end
The silly game of let's pretend
Let's try to stop and start again
Right here
The was paid on Calvary
So you and I no more would be Lost without a light to see
In darkness
But we must open ours eyes
To see GOD instead of midnight

Still with arms stretched open wide for us
Today
What price for love
What price for us
He paid.
