Cherry Picker

Candypants

So you found another girl with eyes just blinking fresh upon the world
A dewy bud so quick to learn and oh, the inspiration in return
But sunlight fades into the cold long night
Hold tight, I can see it slipping away

Cherry picker, time goes quicker, when you're playing catch up
How's that ticker, cherry picker?
Gee you must work out a lot
You think eternal life is in your bed

Whe you touch her downy skin, do you feel wild and wavy haired and thin?
You should think of slowing down
'Cause you wont feel quite as perky in the ground
And someday you can watch your toddlers at play
The way your grandfather watched you

Cherry picker, time goes quicker, when you're playing catch up
How's that ticker, cherry picker?
You must be an astronaut
You think eternal life is in your bed
But you're practically dead

Lyrics submitted by kelly smith.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/