

Daddy's Falling Angel

In This Moment

[Incomprehensible]Pull these scars off my eyes

Lost from the world

A child searching for her dad

You left me there alone

With him to rape my world

And I lived through the years, a girl

Pleading why

In my dreams last night I saw your face

You held me and washed away my tears

Then I woke to realize you're gone

I'm drowning in solitude again

I thank God for my mother's love

Through years of broken innocence

She carried me through the light

In my dreams last night I saw your face

You held me and washed away my tears

Then I woke to realize you're gone

I'm drowning in solitude again

When you realize that fate is gone

Just look at me and say goodbye

So tell me how you fell

So tell me how

As these years and time go racing by

I'm drowning in solitude again

[Incomprehensible]No, this won't kill me

No, this won't kill me

No, this won't kill me

No, this won't kill me

In my dreams last night I saw your face

You held me and washed away my tears

Then I woke to realize you're gone

I'm drowning in solitude again

In solitude, in solitude again

This won't kill me

This won't kill me

This won't kill me

This won't

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>