Golden Teardrops

The Modern Redcaps

You just don't understand
I was home just the other day
When someone told me
That you're still with the man
That you left long time agoOh, I'm not tryin' to play in your love affair
But you mean so much to me
When I see those teardrops in your eyes
It all comes back to meOh, my little sister
I can be your shoulder to cry on
But you're a big girl now
And you can't waste your life away, oohGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeOh, my little sister
I'm not tryin' to tell you what to do
But the wounds that I thought
Would have healed by now
Are still tearing you apartI can dry your eyes
But I won't tell you lies
But you got to be strong
Need to take control of your lifeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeSometime, sometime, ooh yeah
Chasing rainbows, chasing rainbows
Oh, my little sisterI can dry your eyes
But I won't tell you lies
But you got to be strong
Need to take control of your lifeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometimeGolden teardrops, chasing rainbows
Will help you to ease your mind
But you've got to let go sometime

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/