

Born Slippy

Albert Hammond, Jr.

Sometimes the sun goes behind the clouds
You forget the warmth that could be found
Born slippy, born slippy
If you hear a knock at the door at midnight
It has come to stay and steal the light
Born slippy, born slippy And the years gone by
And the maids been gone
She remembered to leave the keys at home
There are more of us than there are of them
Every time you stop, I begin Arms were falling off as heads rolled away
What did they want, why won't they say?
Born slippy, born slippy What happened, I was so excited
What happened, I was so excited
What happened, I was so excited
What happened, I was so excited
What happened, I was so excited
What happened, I was so excited
What happened, I was so excited
What happened? And the years gone by
And the maids been gone
She remembered to leave the keys at home
There are more of us than there are of them
Every time you stop, I begin Is the moment gone?
The party we begun
All the things we said
Taking back yesterday All my needs took you down
Like you were a belief
Don't tell me to stop
Cause you'll notice soon
You'll notice soon Is the moment gone?
The party we begun
All the things we said
Taking back all the dead You know, you know, you know
You know, you know, you know
You know, you know, you know
You know, you know, you know
You know, you know, you know
You know, you know, you know
