

Justice

Atomic Opera

Black bird with a broken wing
Is on the side of the freeway
The preacher says "Don't worry"
But he won't fly away
(oh, glory)
Lights flash, sirens scream
A Mardi Gras procession
Everyone's in trouble
When everyone prays When all the people raise fists in the air
Cry out in anger for things to be fair
When I pray "have mercy" I will never ask for justice Dark night in my soul
I scale the walls of doubt
In a cage of faith
And there's no way out
In these days of unknowing you
I stand so close to alone
But I will not stand
For their black parade And all the people raise fists in the air
Cry out in anger for things to be fair
When I pray "have mercy" Last thing I would ever want is justice When I pray "have mercy" I will never ask And all the people raise fists in the air
Cry out in anger for things to be fair
When all the people I hear everywhere
Cry out in anger for things to be fair When I pray "have mercy" Last thing I would ever want is justice When I pray "have mercy" I pray that I will never ask (for justice)
