Devils

The 69 Eyes

Who told you about a man without fear? Who told you about a God who does not care? Who told you about a pain that does not hurt? Who told you about a love that turns to dirt?Devils You've got a face to face with your devils You've got a race to race with your devils You've got to find a place among your devils You cannot replace your devils DevilsWho told you about cause and effect? Who told you about a heart that can forget? Who told you about fortune and fame? Who told you that the evil has got no name? Devils You've got a face to face with your devils You've got a race to race with your devils You've got to find a place among your devils You cannot replace your devils, you cant deny devils Theyll get you in the nightWho told you? Who told you?Devils You've got a face to face with your devils You've got a race to race with your devils You've got to find a place among your devils You cannot replace your devils, you can't deny devils They'll get you in the night, devils Devils, devils

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/